

How to detect lies with statistics

Maya Bar Hillel

Department of Psychology, Hebrew University of Jerusalem

ABSTRACT

Various misdeeds in the design of experiments leave "signatures" on the resulting data. I show some examples, some historical and some contemporary, of how experimental results reveal these misdeeds.